Coverage of this policy: If you are using any computer equipment (including but not limited to computers, storage devices and media, network) owned by MCC you are subject to the terms and conditions of this policy.

The user ("you" in this document) of the system is the person using compute equipment locally or by remote access. All users of the college's computing services are required to comply with these rules. If you do not understand an item, please ask your instructor to explain it to you.

Summary of Acceptable Use Policy for Computing Resources

The definition of MCC computing facilities includes any computer, server or network system or system element provided or supported by MCC. Use of the computer facilities includes the use of data/programs stored on MCC computing equipment, data/programs stored on magnetic tape, floppy disk, CD ROM or other storage media that is owned and maintained by the MCC. The "user" of the system is the person using the systems from any connection point (e.g. a keyboard) locally or by remote access, requesting an account (or accounts) or logging on to an existing account in order to access any MCC asset. The purpose of these guidelines is to ensure that all MCC students and authorized visitors use the MCC computing facilities in an ethical and lawful manner. It is implicitly understood that the MCC computing system is a private system and that network monitoring is used to ensure reliable performance and that the integrity of the network is maintained.

1. MCC computers are for non-sensitive and non-confidential use only. There is no inherent security in the system; students should not use college systems for any work that should be protected.
2. Individual users are responsible for maintaining their own data. MCC is NOT responsible for the integrity of any student data stored on servers or systems maintained by the institution.
3. Users should report any weaknesses in MCC computer security and any incidents of possible misuse or violation of this agreement to the proper authorities by contacting the appropriate MCC IT Department. Users shall not attempt to access any data or programs contained on the MCC network, or any other network accessed, for which they do not have authorization.
4. Users shall not make unauthorized copies of copyrighted software, except as permitted by law or by the owner of the copyright.
5. Users shall not make copies of system configuration files for their own, unauthorized personal use or to provide to other people/users for unauthorized uses.
6. Users shall not purposely engage in activity with the intent to: harass other users; degrade systems performance; deprive an authorized MCC user access to a MCC resource; obtain extra resources beyond those allocated; circumvent MCC computer security measures or gain access to a MCC system for which proper authorization has not been given.
7. Fraudulent, harassing or obscene messages and/or materials shall not be downloaded, viewed, sent to/from or stored on MCC systems.
8. To ensure systems and software compatibility and to reduce chances of malicious code infections, users shall not download, install or run any applications programs without first consulting the course instructor.
9. Users will not run from any MCC system any software which reveals weaknesses in the security of a system or that can be used as a hacking tool, unless within the guidelines and under the supervision of an MCC course. For example, MCC users shall not run password-cracking programs on MCC computers.

Non-compliance with these requirements constitutes a violation and will be reported to the Chief Campus Officer and the IT Department. Violations will be referred to a judicial committee. Serious violations may result in civil or criminal prosecution. Use of MCC computing facilities constitutes implicit acceptance of and agreement with the Acceptable Use Policy for Computing Resources for MCC: "I have read and understand both this form and the MCC "Computer User Code of Ethics" found posted in all computer laboratories throughout the MCC computing facility and in the student handbook. I understand that my use of MCC computing facilities constitutes my agreement to abide by both."
